Studying for the PMP Exam?
New to Project Management?
Need contact hours or PDUs?
We can help!

The PMI Dallas Chapter Education Committee, comprised entirely of volunteer Project Management Professionals (PMPs), strives to provide a strong education program for the development of new project managers and those seeking project management certification or recertification. As part of this comprehensive program, the Chapter offers several classroom components.

PMP Exam Review Sessions

The highly popular and effective PMP Exam Review sessions are fast-paced full-day classroom events that cover all aspects of *A Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK® Guide) - Third Edition**. Unlike commercial “prep” classes, it is not designed to teach attendees project management, and is best suited for participants who want a better understanding of what it takes to prepare for the exam, who would like to assess their current state of readiness, or those seeking a final review. It is also an excellent comprehensive overview of the current PMBOK Guide for current PMPs seeking PDU credit.*Beginning with the 8/15/09 session, this course will be updated for the Fourth edition PMBOK Guide.

PM101 Basic Project Management Series

This series is intended for new project managers who have just started in the profession and may have difficulty understanding some of the principals of project management. The format is designed to identify project management basics and provide some tools, techniques and templates to help get you started in your new endeavor. The half-day PM101 session covers all aspects of PMI's Guide to the PMBOK at a high level, and each full day PM20X session is a deeper dive into a specific knowledge area, such as communications, scope or risk management.

These are great courses for managers, supervisors and project managers who need to learn about project management. Each class can be used towards the required project management training hours for either the Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM®) or Project Management Professional (PMP®) Exam. Each course in the series can be taken individually without prerequisites.
